DR. WILLIAM HERBERT POWERS

Dr. William Herbert Powers, who has been lingering between life and death at his home in this city for the past week, passed peacefully away at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, surrounded by all the members of the family and everal of his brother physicians. Two days before the end, when it was thought that he would only live a few hours. Dr. Powers told his wife that he would not die that day, and later, told them that he would die yesterday morning. He took his own pulse Saturday morning and seemed to understand his own condition as well as the attending physicians. Doctor Powers suffered greatly at times, for the past several months.

but never at any time did he give outward expression to his feelings. He understood his condition thoroughly. and for a long time knew that his days were few, yet he was cheerful and pleasant and never murmured or allowed those around him, not even in his own home, to know his sufferings or how ill he really was. When almost too weak to walk, just prior to his last trip to Tryon, where, with Mrs. Powers and little Harris, he went hoping that the mountain air would build him up, at least temporarily, he Mr. M. A. Reich of Rockwell was a it as he could and to his patients was the same mild, soft spoken, kindly man and physician that they had known so long and loved so well. Only by his looks could they tell of his frail and weak condition, or how slender was his hold on life.

Dr. Powers came to Ocala ten years

University in Nashville, Tenn., two year prior to that time. He practiced during that time in Lawtey and was informed that Dr. Byrd, assistant Jacksonville.
